JHARKHAND JUST TRANSITION NETWORK

Building a just and green Jharkhand for thriving communities and a sustainable future.

A NEW DAWN FOR JHARKHAND:

Towards a Just and Green Transition

SAARTHI – Jharkhand Just Transition Network, a CSO network for Just Transition in Jharkhand, is committed to create a future where environmental sustainability, social equity and economic resilience go hand in hand. By integrating local knowledge, government policies, and civil society efforts, the network seeks to ensure that the communities are supported, empowered, and given access to robust, sustainable opportunities that secure their future. It also strives to ensure that every decision made and every step taken align with the principles of fairness, gender inclusivity, and environmental stewardship, leaving no one behind.

VISION:

SAARTHI envisions a future where the state transitions towards a sustainable, low-carbon economy, while ensuring no one is left behind. It strives to progress towards a future where marginalised communities will have access to sustainable livelihoods, a healthy environment, and a resilient socio-economic structure. The network's ultimate goal is a prosperous, climate-resilient Jharkhand built on low-carbon pathways, a green economy, dignified livelihoods, and social and gender equity.

MISSION:

We empower communities and engage stakeholders, including policymakers, to ensure a fair, sustainable, and inclusive transition in Jharkhand. Through participatory decision-making, we help stakeholders create effective solutions, strengthen local capacities, and ensure that no one is left behind in the shift to clean energy and a just future.

KEY OBJECTIVES:

Promoting a model rooted in climate resilience

Ensuring an equitable and Just Transition

Fostering renewable energy and sustainable mobility

Decarbonising new and existing industries

Strengthening community-led initiatives

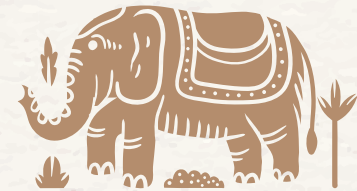

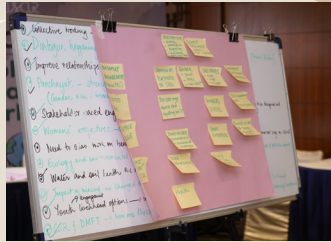

Developing research and decision-support tools
